

Professional Development Workshop

Hong Kong Graded Character Naming Test (HKGCNT) Provider Certification Workshop for Speech Therapists

《中文讀字測試》工作坊

Presenter

Dr. Man-tak Leung is currently an Associate Professor at the Department of Chinese and Bilingual Studies of The Hong Kong Polytechnic University. He is a visionary educationist and researcher who started his career in speech therapy education in Hong Kong since early 1990s. Dr. Leung's teaching and research interests include data corpora on Chinese and the theory and practice of language intervention. He has published articles and books on corpus linguistics, language sample analysis, and reading and its relationship with cognitive, psychological and linguistic development. He is the lead author of HKGCNT published in 2008.

Workshop Description

HKGCNT is designed for use by professionals serving children with reading difficulties. It is a simple assessment tool through which a primary school child's reading ability can be compared with children of the same grade. Test results also provide specific information for therapeutic management. The test kit comprises a test manual, six different stimulus presentation sheets and six different recording forms for each of the different grades.

This three-hour certification workshop will cover:

1. Theory of Chinese character reading
2. Test development and standardisation
3. Test features and application
4. Implications for therapeutic management of reading difficulties
5. Q&As
